Personally appeared before me this April 2, 1909, R. D. MacMillen, business manager of The Sun, who affirms that the above statement of the circulation of The Sun for the month of March, 1909, is true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Daily Thought.
Don't get behind. And if you have been so unfortunate, don't stay behind. Catch up with your work and then keep abreast with it.

The Burley society is criticizing the Lexington newspapers. We have observed a disposition in some organizations to interpret journalistic ethics to the members of the fourth estate. Nobody, up to this time, has observed newspapers telling the other people how to manage their business.

Those good women, who accompanied Mrs. Crane to the county almshouse know the conditions there, and any reflections on Mrs. Crane's manner of inspection of the Institution is an affront to them.

We submit, was it fair for the Mayfield Messenger to take a Sunday school census on Children's Day for the purpose of making a good moral showing for Mayfield? Wait until the week before Christmas and we will furnish figures that will make Mayfield blush.

Can anyone furnish information that a Paducah minister ever refused to preach a funeral at the county almshouse? Or can anyone explain how a minister is to know when anyone dies, without being informed?

AN INVOLUNTARY INDORSEMENT

If ever involuntary indorsement of the present city administration was penned, it appeared this morning in an editorial, praising City Treasurer George W. Walters for the fact that the city is receiving more revenue this year than ever before. Without detracting from whatever credit is due Mr. Walters, whose duty it is to receive such money as is brought to him for the city; the increased revenue and balance are due to the fact that licenses were increased at the instance of Mayor James P. Smith over $20,000, and that saloon licenses were raised at the instance of Mayor Smith from $150 to $500, and to executive economy. Last spring the city received only $76 from each saloonkeeper. This year the city receives $250 from each saloonkeeper. Nearly every merchant and trader in the city is paying more license and many of them are paying ten per cent penalty on top of that, with all of which Mr. Walters had nothing to do. If that increased revenue is a blessing to the city, and the escape from the interest on a temporary loan is gratifying to the morning paper, it should thank the author of the increased revenue as well as the officer, who receives it when it is brought in. Mr. Walters' ability as a tax collector can be best judged after all real and personal taxes are in, footed up and compared with collections for previous years.

THE COURSE OF LAWLESSNESS.

The Kentucky State Journal says: "If the spirit is encouraged and not repressed, mobs become more frequent and soon do not confine themselves to punishing real criminals, but may in their blind fury and disregard for the law injure or murder the innocent and helpless." "If Governor Beckham had been of the same mind as Editor Beckham night riding would have died of inanition.—Paducah Sun.

"Our friend, the editor of the Sun, in the above comment permits blind partisanship to obscure his usually fair vision. From some sources such an unfair criticism would not be expected, but from him, we hoped for more fairness and less unkindness. Surely he is not so ignorant as to expect any sensible person to believe that it was in the power of Governor Beckham to put a stop to the night riders and their deeds. Such an idea is absurd and preposterous. The constitution and laws of Kentucky do not give to the governor power of that kind and it is doubtful if a plan could be devised by which it could be made possible for the governor to prevent such crimes. Night riding like many other forms of lawlessness simply ran its course. Governor Beckham could not stop it, and Governor Wilson could not stop it. It was the same with the tollgate raiders. Governor Bradley exhausted every power of the executive in the effort to suppress them. But tollgate raiding only stopped when all the tollgates were gone, and night riding only stopped when all the tobacco was sold. Governor Beckham recognized the powerlessness of the use of the militia in such cases. To send troops was like locking the stable after the horse was gone. The night riders only struck in unexpected and unprepared places, and to make troops of any service in deterring them it would have been necessary to place a military guard constantly around every threatened place or tobacco barn in the state.

"The use of troops, therefore, in such cases was a wasteful expense, and could do no possible good.

"Governor Beckham in his last regular message to the general assembly of 1906 urged that body to make some needed changes in the administration of the criminal laws of the state, and unless some changes are made to give the courts and the officers of the law more power in dealing with criminals, we cannot expect any improvement.

"We would ask the editor of The Sun to read those recommendations in the message of 1906, and he will there learn the limitations upon the power of the governor, the courts, and the other officers of the law.

"In the above comment he imputes to Governor Beckham a power and strength which no governor of Kentucky ever possessed, and it may be after all, that his above unjust criticism of ill-will, but that in his personal friendship and regard for the editor of the State Journal he attributed to him higher power and greater ability than is ever possessed by a governor."

If night riding ran its course, why cannot the editor of the State Journal wait for lynching to run its course? We, in this end of the state do know, that wherever a newspaper lifted its voice against lawlessness, night riding never obtained a foothold; wherever an official took his stand against crime a strong element of citizenship rallied around him, and just as soon as the governor of Kentucky sent troops into the Black Patch a reaction set in. The trouble was that too many politicians and newspapers confused the lawlessness of night riders with the interest of the farmers' organization. That the planters had a grievance, God knows; but The Sun early warned them that they could not right a wrong with the torch and gun. That was anarchy; and many a man, misguided by his passions, did that which he would not have done had not the press..... silently acquiescent, public officials passively acquiescent, and the political spellbinders lending their voice to the cause of error. These were to blame for the wrong done Kentucky.

FIGHT OVER CIGARETTE.

Two Men Used Meat Cleavers on Each Other. Chicago, June 9.—Two men fought with cleavers for the possession of a lonely cigarette here, and as a result Gustavus Vlockas, aged 27, is in the hospital with several cuts in the head and John Arachontis, aged 26, is under arrest. Vlockas had the only cigarette and in a dispute over which one should smoke it, Arachontis seized a cleaver and started after Vlockas. The owner of the cigarette seized a similar weapon.

When the police arrived Arachontis was taking the cigarette out of Vlockas' pocket after the latter had been knocked down.

Ford Cars in the Lead. Kansas City, June 9.—The two Ford cars leading in the New York to Seattle race reached here at 5:35 yesterday afternoon, and an hour later the Acme and Shawmut cars arrived. The Ford cars were only a few minutes ahead at Glasgow, O., but reached the Missouri river ferry first and the other cars were delayed in consequence. The racers will leave here early in the morning.

SECOND BONUS TO BE MOST LIBERAL OF BIG CONTEST

Two Weeks Given in Which to Take Advantage.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ENTER

Contestants throughout the territory embraced in The Paducah Sun and Associate Newspapers' Great Voting Contest are expected to take advantage of the second offer of bonus votes which is here announced for the first time. While the first bonus was for NEW subscriptions only, it has been decided to make the second one for both NEW and OLD business.

Here are the terms of the second bonus offer: For every $25 representing new subscriptions turned in between Monday, June 7, and Saturday, June 19, FORTY THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES, over and above the regular scale, will be issued.

For every $25 worth of OLD subscriptions turned in before Saturday, June 19, TWENTY THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES, over and above the regular scale, will be issued. All old business turned in at any time since the contest started will be counted in taking advantage of this offer.

New business may not be counted as old, or vice versa, and all subscriptions intended to count for a bonus must be turned into the office of one of the newspapers associated in the contest before 9 o'clock Saturday evening, June 19.

This second bonus offer is a splendid inducement to enter this great voting contest during the present week. Contestants entering now may, by a few days' activity, take advantage of it, and move in one day's time into the ranks of those who started earlier. At no other time during the contest will a bonus of such size be made, and every one is urged to take advantage of it.

In fact there is no better time than the present to enter this great contest and share in the distribution of the magnificent prize list, which was purchased at a cost of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS. It is the opportunity of a life-time to win automobiles, purses of gold, pianos, magnificent furniture and other valuable prizes. Can you afford to miss the chance to win?

CAN'T LOSE HAIR.

Twenty Years From Today a Bald-headed Man Will Be An Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said: "If the new hair grower, Parisian Sage, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."

"And when Parisian Sage is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a baldhead will be a rarity."

There is only one way to cure dandruff and that is to kill the germs. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germs, and that is Parisian Sage.

The unusual hair restorer with its record of thousands of cures will grow hair on any head where there is any life left; it is guaranteed by Gilbert's drug store to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp in two weeks, or money back.

It is the most pleasant and invigorating tonic, is not sticky or greasy and is used extensively by ladies of refinement, who desire to have and to keep their hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant.

Only 50 cents for a large bottle at Gilbert's drug store and leading druggists everywhere and remember when you buy a bottle of Parisian Sage you get more for 50 cents than the makers of ordinary tonics give you.

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Paducah People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Paducah people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

J. W. Wootan, retired, 1033 Harrison street, Paducah, Ky., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney complaint and backache and my case was of several years standing. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a supply at DuBois, Son & Co.'s store and their use brought very satisfactory results. Some years ago I told of my experience with this remedy in a public statement and lapse of time has only strengthened my high opinion of it."

(Statement given February 18, 1907.)
Mr. Wootan was interviewed on March 6, 1909, and he said: "I am glad to confirm all I have previously said regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. The cure this remedy effected in my case nearly ten years ago has been permanent."

win one of these magnificent prizes without a cent of investment. Perhaps you are the very person to win the handsome Ford touring car, costing $1,000, which is the first grand prize, or perhaps by a little hustling you can turn in enough votes to win the second grand prize, a powerful Ford roadster.

Consider also the prizes that must be awarded in your county—the district prizes. Into every county $650 in prizes must go and somebody in your county must win them. Don't you think you would like to be among the winners?

Call at The Sun office and get the details. Get a book and ask your friends for their subscriptions. You will be surprised at the ease with which a prize is won.

Fortune Slipping From Her Grasp.

New York, June 9.—In less than three years Mrs. Russell Sage has spent more than $25,000,000 for the benefit of mankind. The recent investigation abroad of the question of workmen's insurance and the establishment of a gigantic employment bureau call attention anew to her prolific bounty.

It took Russell Sage fifty years to get $65,000,000. This great sum represented the pinching and scraping together of what amounted to $3,500 a day for the lifetime of the astute financier.

ODD MALADY GRIPS NOVELIST.

Jack London Says He is Victim of Weird Nervous Disease.

Honolulu, June 9.—In the letter to Dr. E. S. Goodhue, of this city, Jack London, novelist, outlines a gloomy sketch of his physical condition. He specifies five different diseases from which he has suffered, and tells of being relieved of two of them by operations in Sydney, but says he still has malarial fever, while nervous affliction has wrecked his strength and prevents him from doing any work.

London says the doctors understand one of the nervous diseases, but the other, the ablest Australian specialist confesses he doesn't understand, and books contain nothing about it. London had hoped when the operation was performed he would recover his nervous equilibrium, but admits this mysterious malady, when the attack comes, makes him helpless. He expects to sell the Snark and come home at once.

Pay your city taxes now and avoid the penalty after July 1.

Will Ask Continuance. Chicago, June 9.—The state has not completed its gathering of evidence against Dr. Haldane Clemenson who is being held on a charge of having murdered his wife, Mrs. Nora Jane Clemenson, and will ask for a continuance when the case comes up in court tomorrow. The state will ask a continuance on the grounds that the report of the coroner as to the poison found in Mrs. Clemenson's body is not ready. The defense will fight against a continuance and will insist upon the immediate presentation of evidence by the state.
